

THE DALLAS INSTITUTE

The Ethics of Food: A Symposium

Dr. James McWilliams and Guests

What does it truly mean to eat responsibly? Is more than our personal wellness at issue? Does what we consume in fact have ethical implications—that is, consequences that affect our environment and more specifically the lives of other people? Nationally known environmental historian Dr. James McWilliams, winner of the 2009 Hiatt Prize, will lead us in exploring such questions during this Fall Symposium of the Institute's Environmental Forum.

Appearing with Dr. McWilliams will be rancher Robert Hutchins, writer Kim Pierce, and attorney David Denney. During the opening reception and after the program, Dr. McWilliams will be signing copies of his new book Just Food: Where Locavores Get It Wrong and How We Can Truly Eat Responsibly.

Friday, November 6: reception 6 pm; program 6:30-8 pm
Members $20, Nonmembers $25, Member Teachers $7

To sign up for this event, go to www.DallasInstitute.org or call 214-871-2440.

